Dear Leonida Library Community,

I would first like to thank everyone who came out and participated in the 3rd Annual Makers Day! It was a wonderful event where kids and people of all ages could explore technology, STEM and more. We had making magnetic slime, chemistry experiments, robotics demonstrations, 3D printing and modeling exhibit, working with circuitry, making buttons, and more! Special thanks to our teen volunteers and volunteers Elen and Matthew who provided activities and help. We are already looking forward to next year!

I am also happy to announce our slate of Spring Programs in this newsletter! We have, well, LOTS going on for all ages! In April alone we have STEM activities and crafts for both kids and teens, recycled art classes for kids, a student flute ensemble concert, a special poetry reading by Leonida Elsbeth Pancrazi, and more! See below for details.

For adults we have also brought back Monday Movies! Take a look below for our new monthly movie screenings - with popcorn and refreshments! We also have basic computer classes for adults as well. These are great for beginners and are hands-on using library laptops.

Finally, a quick reminder - the library offers tons of downloadable and digital materials! eBooks, digital magazines, streaming movies, TV and music, and downloadable audiobooks. Check out the library's improved website to begin exploring lots of digital materials. Leonida Library.

As always, I hope to see you at the library. Cheers!

Matt

Yoojin Grace Wuertz Author Reading

Thursday, May 18th at 6:30pm

Leonian Yoojin Grace Wuertz will be visiting the library to read from her recently published book Everything Belongs to Us. The New York Times Review says: "Wuertz has written a rich and descriptive case study - or a "Gatsby"-esque takedown, if you will - of 1970s South Korea. Reading "Everything Belongs to Us" is as much an education in sociology and history as it is a story about people, and the characters are so memorable they lend an intimacy to that history." Join us as she reads selections from her new book!

After Hours Concert and Open-Mic Featuring Yacouba Sissoko

Friday, May 19th at 7:00pm

Join us for the next installment of our popular Concert and OpenMic series. We will be featuring international kora player Yacouba Sissoko. Yacouba has toured or recorded with musicians like Regina Carter, Harry Belafonte and Paul Simon. Yacouba will play from 7pm - 8pm, afterwards we will open up the microphone to anyone who wants to perform music, poetry, comedy, etc. Doors open at 6:30pm, signups for performing begin at the same time. Refreshments will be served.

Summer Concert and Open-Mic Series

Saturday, June 25th at 2pm in WOOD PARK

The Leonia Library's Summer Concert series returns this year with concerts each month throughout the summer. Our first Concert and OpenMic will feature the traditional Andean band Inkarayku. The band seeks to link the past, present and future Andean arts, through the performance on indigenous music forms that have evolved into the contemporary mestizo music heard today. Following their performance we will open the microphone up to any and all performers. More details coming soon!
