Dear Leonia Library Community,

Starting on November 1st the Leonia Library is proud to announce a brand new service for the Leonia community - access to Lynda.com. This is a new online service that gives you access to thousands of online classes, courses and webinars - all completely FREE! On Lynda you can find in depth courses on anything from computer basics and Microsoft Office to 3D modeling and video/audio editing. Any Leonia resident with a Leonia Library Card has FREE and unlimited access to this new resource. Simply go to the library's website - Leonia Library - and click on link for Lynda.com to get started. Instructions are on our website or ask any staff member to help. We are very excited to offer this new resource, which is being sponsored and provided by Community Chest of Leonia. Our thanks to the Community Chest of Leonia members for making this possible for the community.

I would also like to announce that we have moved our After Hours Openmic event - it was originally scheduled on November 4th, but will now be held on Friday, December 9th at 7pm. This will be another fun event for all ages as we begin with a featured band- Westet at 7pm. Westet is a jazz/funk quartet often featured in NYC clubs and venues. After their performance, we will open up the microphone to anyone who wants to perform their music, poetry or other art! We will hold the event upstairs after the library's regular Friday hours and will offer a 'coffee shop' style feel with coffee, refreshments and a more.

Finally, I wanted to thank the Leonia community for making our 7th Annual Halloween Party a huge success! We had over 200 people in attendance to explore our haunted house, play fun activities and join in on the costume fun. Hope to see you again next year :)
